

Inclusion of Women and Minorities

Each experiment will involve approximately 6 adult subjects, recruited from the university community. Since the experiments involve normal walking in outdoor environments we do not expect any differences to depend on sex or minority status. However, we will try to balance the number of males and females and can examine the data for possible differences. Otherwise the subjects should reflect the ethnic composition of the University community. We will recruit only subjects over 18 so the experiments will not involve children.
